Profile

Social tech nerd are words that describe me well. Computers have always been my thing. Built my first computer when I was 13 and started my own company when I was 19 after dropping out of high school. My company helped elders with home tech but unfortunately the pandemic got in the way.

I grew up in Limhamn but moved to a horse farm when I was 10. I've played almost every sport that includes a ball but a broken wrist and a broken leg made me focus on golf and weight training.

I'm very social and an easy going person that easily connects with others. Personal growth is important to me and I'm intrigued by the way we communicate with each other, both verbally and with our body language. Sessions with my life coach have helped me reach higher levels in how to communicate with myself and others.

I'm a very curious person, a fast learner and I really like challenges.
